KNOWLEDGE

YOU'VE NEVER SEEN THE WORLD LIKE THIS!

What would our maps look like if the boundaries were drawn by nature? The simplest way to divide the earth's surface is by biomes. In this way, 14 different terrestrial habitats can be described, defined by their fauna and flora, their geological makeup and their climate. The artist and environmental manager Juliana Aschwanden-Vilaça has created a book that presents these biomes with impressive illustrations. In doing so, she opens our eyes to the fragility of the world. The artfully designed non-fiction book is suitable for children aged 10 and up and makes a great gift!

- ▶ Combines the fields of knowledge transfer, nature protection and art
- ▶ The beautiful illustrations make every page a piece of art
- ▶ Short portraits of animals and plants offer a lot of knowledge

The author and illustrator:
Juliana Aschwanden-Vilaca

Born in Brazil, she studied architecture and landscape architecture. After several years in the environmental industry, she completed a master's degree in illustration to devote herself primarily to environmental issues through art. Her work has received several awards.
